ROANOKE, VA., May 16.—The Lawmakers found Diebold, one of the Highlanders best pitchers an easy mark by the score of 12 to 5 to-day, getting eighteen hits off his delivery, making a total of twenty-eight bases, hiting him at will, while Eckstone kept his hits scat-tered, three of them on the scratch order, and received the best of support. Hicks, Rose and Shaffer always put the sphere to the had, while Hinton played a splendid game at backstop. Brown in center did Roanoke's best work in the field, and Roanoke's best work in the field data at stick. A large crowd was out to see the game and ideal weather was what gave ginger to the Lawmakers or as they are termed here "Shakers," A good game for Richmond and heavy hitting.

Tobacconists Whitewash Leaders in Pennant Race.

in Pennant Race.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., May 15.—It fell to the lot of Danville to trip up the Tercentenials, the leaders in the pennant race, this afternoon, and that by the score of 8 to 0. It was an off day for the locals, and almost any club that they may have been plitted against would have beaten them. The fast men of the team could neither bat, run bases nor field. The Tobacconists played a fairly aggressive and progressive game, although their they work earned for them but on and progressive game, although their stick work earned for them but one run, Norfolk's seven errors netting them almost that number of runs. Fitzpatrick, Norfolk's new pitcher, was not given an opportunity to show what his real ability might be. With better support, his record this afternoon would have been much more to his credit.

Cornellus was very effective, especially in critical stages. Only in the ininh were the Shomakers able to bunch hits on him, when four of the nine came and then fine field work held the scores down to one run. The first two runs of the victors were scored on a base on balls, a stolen base, an error by Cook and a single by McDonough. The remaining three were earned.

The locals scored in the second. Totman was hit. Cook sacrificed and Walsh singled. The other came in the ninth. Totman singled and was sent around the circuit by singles by Cook and Walsh. There is one thing certain, if the games yesterday and to-day can be taken as a criterion, the reconstructed Truckers will rapidly become «. strong factor in the race for the flag, and if they continue the class of work they have been playing here, the pennant will be kept during the winter by Charley Bland.

Among them were the fairest of the belies of the second oldest college in the United States, and nobly did they do their rooting for the colors worn upon their bosoms during the hour of seeming victory; and when the hour of defeat loomed largely upon them they did not faller. To them be all honor due for the part they bore during the game, for in the long agony of defeat they suffered even more than did the asgregation for whom they rendered their cheers. And to the fair one who rooted for the Presbyterians something must be said in praise, for at least something of the victory must be accredited to their loyalty. Until the beginning of the ninth William and Mary had the game all her own way, the score being five to nothing. Until the eighth linning Hampden-Sidney never won to first base; but in the ninth inning they caught on to the curves of Henning, the William and Mary pitcher, and made six hits and as many runs. Henning had pitcled the best game or life.

The Presbyterians never made a hit off him until the next last inning, and did not even get to first base. But in the ninth inning his arm began to weaken, and he was unable to hold them down. Had William and Mary put in another pitcher during the last inning, the Orango and White might have won. But this was not done, and it was on the weakened spirit that the Presbyterians won. William and Mary began to lose heart, several errors were made, and on this the Presbyterians won. But nothing is the Presbyterians won. But nothing is several errors were made, and on this the Presbyterlans won. But nothing is taken from their due, for all during the game, even when defeat seemed to cheirs, they were game.
